Purpose: Conservation district administrative functions, such as employee supervision, training, performance appraisals, job descriptions, and payroll, are all the responsibility of the district supervisors. Last month we covered employee supervision, personnel policy and leave. This issue focuses on personnel management documentation. We’ll also offer other suggestions that district supervisors should consider to ensure effective employee/supervisor working relationships.

Timesheets: Employees should keep track of time worked using a time sheet (examples attached have been provided by Pat Johnson, Valley County CD & Ginger Kaufmann, Flathead CD and are posted on DNRC website). Time sheets should be signed by the employee and conservation district supervisor; should not contain whiteout; and any corrections should be initialed by both the employee and the supervisor. It is a good idea to keep a running balance on vacation leave, sick leave, and compensatory time (if allowed by the conservation district) — both earned and used. A calendar is not a proper substitute for a time sheet.

Note: It is not appropriate for agency personal that are not conservation district supervisors to sign conservation district employee time sheets.

Over Time: Conservation districts are required by the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) to compensate its employees overtime pay in the amount of 1.5 times the number of hours worked over 40 hours in a week. Because of the strain overtime pay can put on a conservation district budget, some conservation districts have set a policy of “first 40,” meaning that when an employee has worked 40 hours in a week, they must take off work for the remainder of the week. If an employee’s workload occasionally requires working over 40 hours in a week, prior approval is required. This allows conservation districts to manage, both workload and budgets.

Compensatory Time: The FLSA allows conservation districts to offer employees the option of requesting compensatory time at the rate of 1.5 hours for every hour worked over 40 in a week. To be consistent with the Act, this option can be offered if:

1. the conservation district’s policy allows it;
2. the district employee requests it each time before the overtime is earned; and
3. the conservation district does not require the employee to choose compensatory time over overtime pay.

A compensatory time in lieu of over time form is attached. If a conservation districts decide to offer this option, make sure it is in the policy. It would be a good idea, for budgetary reasons, to place a cap on the amount of compensatory time that can be earned. Once that cap is reached, then overtime pay must be in cash.

Position Descriptions: Each employee should have a current position description. A position description should include:

- the scope of duties to be performed by the district employee;
- supervision received and exercised;
- and skills needed to do the job.

Position descriptions do not have to list every specific duty, but should cover the breadth of duties expected. If your employee(s) do not have a current position description, take the time and develop/update one for each employee (examples have been provided by Lewis & Clark & Flathead CD’s, and are posted on the DNRC website).

Prepared by the DNRC
Conservation Districts Bureau
Nov 2009
Performance Appraisals: Ideally, one supervisor should be appointed to serve as the main contact/supervisor of an employee. This supervisor would conduct performance appraisals as well. Appraisals should be based on an employee's position description, and used to evaluate job knowledge, skills and abilities, quality of work, productivity, reliability, communication, training needed, and working relationships. Appraisals not only evaluate how the employee is meeting expectations, but are also an excellent form of communication between the supervisors and employees.

Appraisals should be conducted annually. Why you ask? Appraisals can open up lines of communication to make sure expectations are being met and to help take care of any issues that may arise in a proactive manner. Remember, the first effort is to help employees do their job better. (Examples of performance appraisal forms are posted on DNRC website).

Communication: Conservation district employees are almost always the biggest budgetary investment made by conservation districts. And, as any supervisor will say, conservation district employees are the key to conservation district success. Good communication between employees and supervisors is essential in ensuring district expectations and conservation goals are met. While this issue deals with the nuts and bolts of personnel management, nothing is more important than good communication for paying dividends on your biggest investment.

Supervisor Checklist: (yes, you should work through this!)
⇒ Personnel Policy is updated and current.
⇒ Employee(s) position description is current.
⇒ Employees are using approved timesheet.
⇒ Supervisor approves and signs timesheet.
⇒ Supervisors have conducted employee performance appraisal within last year.

Don’t Forget:
• Conservation district supervisors are governmental employers.
• Conservation district supervisors should not delegate any supervisory responsibilities to any other agency.
• Ideally, one supervisor should be appointed to serve as the main contact/supervisor of an employee.
• It is not appropriate for agency personal that are not conservation district supervisors to sign conservation district employee time sheets.
• A calendar is not a proper substitute for a time sheet.
• Be sure to set up a leave account to avoid breaking the budget if/when an employee leaves their position.

COMPENSATORY TIME IN LIEU OF OVERTIME INSTRUCTIONS

1. The agreement form must be signed by the employee and supervisor (must be a conservation district supervisor) and dated before the extra hours are worked.
2. Attach the agreement form to the back of the time sheet.
3. The extra hours must show on the time sheet. Then show the calculation for 1.5 x the number of extra hours in the period.
4. Compensatory time in lieu of overtime only applies to hours worked over 40 in a work week. A work week runs from 12:00 am Saturday thru 11:59 pm Friday.

COMPENSATORY TIME AGREEMENT

I understand that my position is covered under the federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). I also understand that I am eligible to receive overtime pay at one and one-half times my current rate of pay, OR, in lieu thereof, to receive paid time off at the rate of one and one-half hours off for each hour of employment for which overtime compensation is required.

I voluntarily waive my right to overtime pay for compensation of overtime worked in the payroll ending ______________________ (date) and elect, in lieu thereof, to receive FLSA compensatory time, which time will accrue and be credited to my payroll records as FLSA compensatory time.

I acknowledge that I may use accrued FLSA compensatory time as paid time off according to the conservation district policies and procedures.
